White Power and Apocalyptic Cults: Pro North Korean Americans Revealed

Home-grown U.S. Terrorist Groups are Pyongyang's Chosen Favorites

Pro North Korean Americans Revealed

American homegrown terrorist groups are the chosen favorites of Pyongyang

By Nate Thayer

In case anyone was confused about the fundamental political system in North Korea, one only has to look at who their political allies are abroad. It is a political system based on blind nationalism, racial purity, militarism, and intolerance. Their closest allies are the far right wing racial supremacist groups in the U.S. and Europe.

Until recently, the official representative in the United States of North Korea, the Rural Peoples Party, headed by racial supremacist Joshua Caleb Sutter, distributed North Korean propaganda at the instruction of Pyongyang.

Sutter grew up as the son of a Pentecostal preacher and racial separatist in South Carolina. He joined the Aryan Nations–listed as an official terrorist group by the U.S. government–as a teenager and served as their chief propagandist and their "Minister for Islamic Relations" until he was arrested for buying bombs, handguns, and silencers from undercover federal agents in 2003.

After serving 2 years in federal prison, he returned to South Carolina where he created the Rural People's Party–whose ideological mentors were Jim Jones of the Jonestown Temple and Guyana mass murder fame and Kim Jong Il of North Korea. He simultaneously was a leader of the racial separatist armed terrorist group–the Aryan Nations.

Here is a radio recording that Sutter gave–as a preacher for the white supremacist Church of Yahweh–in 2003 after forming the RPP and declaring allegiance to Pyongyang:

"Aryan Nations of this earth! You are a chosen generation. A chosen race.A peculiar people who will let Yahweh lead you out of darkness to his marvelous light.

Hello. My name is Joshua Caleb Sutter of the Church of the Sons Of Yahweh. The CofSoY is a ministry reaching out to the lost sheep of the house of Jacob, our racial ancestor of the white Aryan people….Yahweh, our genetic father. We have come today to bring you a message of forbidden truth, forbidden knowledge. Forbidden by whom you ask? Forbidden by your current masters. Forbidden by the system that killed Vicky and Samuel Weaver at Ruby Ridge. Forbidden by the system of which the head becomes the tail and the tail becomes the head. Forbidden by the system of Jewish communism.

Yes, we are going to go in today to the system of forbidden knowledge, and this forbidden knowledge is revealed to Yahweh's sons and daughters who are the true Israelite's of old, who are in this world today as the white Aryan nations of this earth…Racial pride is a fact. For thousands and thousands of years of defending racial purity and thousands and thousands of years of race consciousness can not easily be erased, although many in this current degraded, horrible system, where our babies are sent off to die legally, where their brains are scrambled and sucked out in places called Planned Parenthood, the system where race mixing is none other than genetic manipulation by the Jews, where race mixing is encouraged.

…although I am going to be going into a completely different topic today, I need to remind you, the sons and daughters of Yahweh, that those who call themselves Jews are not Jews but of the Synagogue of Satan. You are at war. You must be of the consciousness that you are at war and you have to fight in this war…."

White Power leader Joshua Sutter in his guise of Hindu Priest

by Nate Thayer (http://www.nknews.org/content_author/nate-thayer/)
WASHINGTON D.C. – In September 2003, John Paul Cupp, the 22 year old son of a fundamentalist Christian preacher from Indiana received a message from the government of North Korea.

"Upon the authorization of the Central Committee", it read, Pyongyang "extends militant greetings to you who extend warm support and solidarity to the Songun policy of our respected Marshal Kim Jong Il, treasure sword of our nation."

The "formation of the Songun Politics Study Group USA has been reported to our Central Committee and, through it, to the Workers Party of Korea….Now your organization has been introduced to the entire Korean nation in the south and the north. We are very pleased to have a revolutionary organization and comrades like you in the land of the United States, the bulwark of imperialism and determined to further the relationship with you in depth,"

Rodong Sinmun, the official voice of the ruling Korean Worker's Party (KWP), reported the news on September 11, the two year anniversary of the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center in New York.

The message from Pyongyang promised to send further information "by DHL" to the address of "Comrade John Paul Cupp." What North Korea didn't mention was at the time was John Paul Cupp had no address because he was homeless and living in a tent under a highway in Portland, Oregon.

"My father is a loser. He lives in Lynn Haven, Florida," wrote Cupp on an online family genealogy thread in October 1999. "I moved to Portland to join the communist party and get my poetry published. I am 19 years old."

By the time Cupp vowed his loyalty to Pyongyang and was made Chairman of the newly created Songun Politics Study Group USA, his evolving political ideology embraced white supremacy, pro Islamic Jihadists, virulent anti-Semitism, and launching domestic terrorism to achieve the armed overthrow of the U.S. government.

John Paul Cupp (c) in trench coat when he was homeless living in Portland Oregon in the early 2000's when he became the chief U.S representative of the Pyongyang sanctioned group of U.S. supporters of North Korea. North Korean media heralded Cupp as a "prominent U.S. public figure."

In recent years, the North Korean government has joined in alliance and found common cause with American citizens from the violent armed fringes of both the political far right and left who are members of registered U.S. domestic terrorist organizations, have been convicted for violent racial attacks, claimed to have sent Anthrax chemical warfare agents to the President of the United States, been sentenced to mental institutions for threatening to assassinate sitting U.S. presidents, and been imprisoned for plotting terrorist attacks on U.S soil.

"Comrade Kim Il Sung and Dear Leader Comrade Kim Jong Il are the two greatest human beings in the entire history of theworld"

Several have made official visits to North Korea as the invited guests of the Pyongyang government.

The American political activists of the pro North Korean political organizations created by Pyongyang in the U.S. include leaders of armed white power groups accused of trying to spark violent race wars, ; Americans fighting for the creation of a U.S. state populated exclusively by white people; supporters of the extermination of the Jewish race; who applaud the 9/11 and Oklahoma City terrorist attacks; and others who hold as their ideological mentors the religious suicide cult leader Jim Jones, Pol Pot, Osama Bin Laden, and the assassins of three U.S. presidents and civil rights leader Martin Luther King.

But according to North Korean official propaganda, these American citizens and the Pyongyang government they view as their ideological mentors agree on one thing: The Kim family dynastic leadership are the greatest political thinkers of our times.

"My personal opinion," John Paul Cupp said in a 2007 interview, "is that great leader Comrade Kim Il Sung and Dear Leader Comrade Kim Jong Il are the two greatest human beings in the entire history of the world. For us, it would be impossible to even wake up in the morning should we lose the ability to cherish them."

Within months of creating the pro-Pyongyang group, Cupp was regularly featured in North Korean propaganda as a "prominent U.S. public figure," who was the leader of a broad U.S. movement with deep loyalty to the Kim family's global political vision.

FROM WHITE SUPREMACIST TO ISLAMIC CONVERT

While serving as the Chairman of the Songun Politics Study Group USA, recognized by Pyongyang as their primary U.S. support group, and several other political front groups created in North Korea but portrayed as homegrown U.S. mass political movements, Cupp's political platform included anti-Semitic laced rhetoric ("hey anyone, actually killing Jews is to be supported in so far as they are killing Jews") to racism ("I fully invite every member of an Islamic or Third World country that US imperialism wants to bomb to join us in a cross burning and Jena-rope-the-goat/President event to show how much we love scabs and tools of the Jews and imperialist finance capital") to support for "Aryan hero Lee Harvey Oswald" and the Oklahoma City bomber, Timothy McVeigh.

In a post on a white supremacy website titled "A Call for White Resistance" Cupp wrote "One of the things that was brought to my attention while I was visiting North Korea is that during the course of the anti-Japanese struggle the masses began scattered and wanting, then non-violently resisting, and then resisting with 'terrorism' and what we call 'lone wolf actions' today," he wrote.

"When looking at our White European-American nation, one finds a people who have not lost their desire to fight the enemy oppressor and who are willing to take matters into their own hands."

Cupp cited a list of American "Lone Wolves" to be emulated which included the far-right White Supremacist who committed the most deadly domestic terrorist act in U.S. history when he blew up the federal building in Oklahoma City, a White Supremacist group who stockpiled weapons and explosives then went on a murderous campaign of assassination against blacks, and the assassins of Presidents Kennedy, Lincoln and McKinley as well as Martin Luther King.

But that didn't stop the North Korean government from appointing him the head of the officially sanctioned political organization of U.S. citizens supporting the government of North Korea. Nor did it inhibit Pyongyang prominently depicting the then 22 year old American in state media dozens of time in the following years as a "prominent U.S. Public Figure" and inviting him on official government sponsored visits to the DPRK.

Photo is with a North Korean military officer in the neutral zone during a 2007 trip Cupp made to North Korea as an official guest of Pyongyang

For many North Koreans, the only source of information on developments outside the DPRK is the strictly controlled government media and many therefore believe that the world masses are ardent supporters of Kim Il Sung's Juche political ideology.

On April 15, 2004 (Kim Il Sung's birthday), Cupp sent a poem to Pyongyang expressing his fealty to Kim Il Sung and Juche which was promptly republished by North Korean media.

"Marshal Kim Jong Il is the most outstanding revolutionary leader of our era. His Songun army-centered stance, against the fascist scum goons of the White House, cannot be called anything short of genius, extreme bravery, defiant, principled, and even scholarly," Cupp wrote. "Marshal Kim Jong Il has clearly shown that the gun is the revolution. He clarified that the gun is the faithful and uncompromising companion of the revolutionary. This gun-based approach is correct in every single way."

In October 2004, the KCNA heralded Cupp as praising the wife of North Korean founder Kim Il Sung and mother of then leader Kim Jong Il which spoke of "a revolutionary comrade-in-arms most loyal to President Kim Il Sung and gave birth to leader Kim Jong Il."

Another KCNA dispatch the following month published an article by Cupp titled "What a great man Comrade Kim Jong Il is" which read "Then there are questions as to why do intellectuals respect and revere General Kim Jong Il so deeply,"

"He [Cupp] explained in the article that Kim Jong Il is the most prominent leader in the present era just as President Kim Il Sung was. Though the socialist movement suffered setbacks in different countries, the brilliant and august name of Kim Jong Il serves as a symbol of the militant and invincible defender of the world, he stressed," wrote KCNA.

Cupp remained head of the U.S. Songun Study Group for the next seven years during which he travelled to Pyongyang as an official guest of the North Korean government. Simultaneously, he forged alliances with other American White Power extremist groups who shared his fidelity to Pyongyang, created other political front groups espousing armed revolution to create a racially pure state, and joined with apocalyptic fringe religious sects espousing suicide bombers as a tactic for achieving religious and political goals.

In an article Cupp wrote while serving as head of the U.S. Songun Study Group , he said "Imagine a racial communist super-State comprising all of Europe and Russia and stretching across the reclaimed Siberian Land Bridge Project into White North America and includes Australia, New Zealand, Chile and Argentina in its project. Bloodline shall supersede geographical boundaries [this will be] the total victory of White Power over the conspiracy for our genocide, more than just racialism, but true socialism, and the rebirth of the neighborhood and family again."

"The best models existing today are those of North Korea and the Iraqi Branch of the Arab Socialist Ba'ath Party"

"Long live the White race!," the article concluded, "Long live the communist revolution! Let us vow to die in the trenches of combat before ever even considering the thought of surrendering our European-American Nation!"

In December 2009, Cupp penned a piece in which he wrote "White Power, when correctly defined, ultimately wants both separation from and death to America. Indeed, 'White Power, Death to America!' … the best models existing today, and worthy of careful study, admiration, and solidarity by our people are those of North Korea and the Iraqi Branch of the Arab Socialist Ba'ath Party."

In February 2010, Cupp created another organization called "Aryan Athiests." The next month, he formally converted to Islam and changed his name to Wahid Yayah Cupp.

By 2011, his erratic behavior and a myriad of infighting among other American contenders for the official endorsement of Pyongyang caused Cupp to be eased out as top leader of the U.S. Songun Politics Study Group.

The road travelled by pro-North Korean American citizens since 2003 has been similarly strewn with controversy, intrigue, and buffoonery. During the last decade, other politically-active Americans were also going through important transitions on their way to joining John Paul Cupp as staunch supporters of Pyongyang and their brand of government.

JOSHUA CALEB SUTTER: PREACHER'S SON, NEO-NAZI, FEDERAL PRISONER

Joshua Caleb Sutter has one of the more colorful resumes in fringe American politics. Also the son of a fundamentalist Christian preacher, David Sutter, a well-known South Carolina white supremacist leader, Joshua Sutter was primed for the world of extremist politics from a young age.

He began dabbling in white racist politics as a teenager and rose rapidly through the ranks to become a national leader of the Aryan Nations, a white supremacist neo-Nazi group which advocated the armed overthrow of the U.S. government in order to impose a whites-only racially pure state in its place.

Sutter lived at the headquarters compound of the Aryan Nations in Pennsylvania until his arrest by undercover federal agents in February 2003 for purchasing illegal automatic pistols with their serial numbers scraped off, and possession of silencers in a foiled plot to launch bomb attacks in a domestic U.S. terror campaign.

At the time, Sutter was also a preacher for the Church of the Sons of Yaweh, a white supremacist "Christian Identity" church with links to the Ku Klux Klan (KKK).

"Roses are red, violets are blue – for every dead Arab, another dead jew!"

After the September 11, 2001 World Trade Center bombings in New York, Sutter assumed the title of the Aryan Nations "Minister for Islamic Liaison", tasked with building alliances with international Islamic jihadist groups. Sutter caught the attention of federal authorities in 2002 after he released a "message of solidarity and support" to Saddam Hussein after Sept. 11 predicting that "the evil regime of the United States … shall be utterly wiped off the face of the earth."

Among other aliases, Sutter used the name Wulfran Hall, High Counsel of Aryan Nations, while living at the rural Pennsylvania Aryan Nations headquarters owned by Sutter's mentor, Aryan Nation's head August Kreis.

On the Aryan Nations website, after leading a large White Supremacist, anti-Semitic rally in Washington D.C., Sutter wrote: "Skinheads, Aryan Nations and Identity, National Alliance, Creators all marching side by side with one enemy in mind – the jew," citing as a "poignant example" the slogan of the demonstration: "Roses are red, violets are blue – for every dead Arab, another dead jew!" Calling whites "the true chosen race", Sutter wrote 'Yes, oh yes… and it shall be much worse this time. Jew – all of your planning, scheming and attempts and preparedness shall not save you from that fateful day, for no man knows the hour….But a little bird told a friend of a friend of a friend who told me that it "shan't be too far off"…"

Sutter was arrested in February 2003 for purchasing gun silencers and an automatic pistol with its serial numbers scratched off from an undercover federal agent. The arrest was part of a sting operation which foiled attempts by Sutter's White Supremacist extremist comrade to use explosives and weapons to blow up abortion clinics and kill political opponents.

Sentenced to two years, Sutter was released from a Georgia federal prison on Nov. 9, 2004 and moved back to his hometown in rural Lexington County, South Carolina.

THE RURAL PEOPLE'S PARTY AND THE JIM JONES JUCHE CARAVAN

That is when Sutter began a twisted web of sharp u-turns in his ideas, veering off to remote side roads of political ideology, and formed a new underground political organization–the Rural People's Party (RPP)–which embraced both Kim Il Sung's Juche ideology and that of Jim Jones as its twin political mentors.

In documents compiled by the Department of Religious Studies at San Diego State University (which has an extensive archive of the Jim Jones People's Temple organization), a member of the Rural People's Party submitted a biography of the history of the party. Documents and other evidence obtained by NK News show that the author of the RPP biography was Joshua Sutter and the article was sent from Joshua Sutter's property in South Carolina.

"The Rural People's Party (RPP) was officially ratified into existence in 2004 when our founder was released from federal prison after serving a sentence on weapons charges," the document says, revealing details which mirror the biography of Joshua Sutter."Other comrades on the outside had already scouted out and purchased a rural location for the founding of a commune," said the RPP document.

According to Lexington County title records, on Aug 19 2003, David and Laura Sutter, Joshua's parents, purchased 3.61 acres of land and a mobile home on 480 Sherwood Drive for $75,000 –the same location of the headquarters of the Rural People's Party, according to multiple documents obtained by NK News during this investigation.

A photograph on the official RPP website shows a single wide mobile home with a North Korean flag flying on a flagpole in a wooded area and is captioned: " Central People's Commune of the Rural People's Party: Militant Juche Songun and Jim Jones thought Communism North America."

But Sutter didn't abandon his far right, extremist white supremacist politics when he was released from the penitentiary at the end of 2004.

Upon release from prison, Sutter began working at the Southern Patriot Shop, a White Supremacist retail outlet managed by Sutter's father, Pentecostal preacher David Sutter. The shop sells racist paraphernalia and is owned by the League of the South, an established hate group.

While it was on the date of his release from federal prison that Sutter founded the Rural People's Party—it was also in the following months that, Sutter using alias's including Wulfran Hall, actively resumed his leadership role in the white supremacist terror organization Aryan Nations."We can become more than simple domesticated pawns in the games of jewish commerce. We spit upon the false sanctity of the 'flag' – of whatever country," wrote Sutter in February 2005 on the Aryan Nations website. "We spit upon the erroneous sanctity of the cross – and all the meaningless relics of organized religion which is but another way to enslave us and control us, to keep us from realizing the potential that we possess as a race."

Sutter also provided an approved list of books which he positively reviewed. They included "A Practical Guide to The Strategy and Tactics of Revolution" which demonstrates four ways to "undermine/overthrow/disrupt/de-stabilize the present anti-Aryan System, and thus create or provoke a revolutionary situation".

The book lists four methods for revolution: "(1) assassination of individuals; (2) terror bombing (including targets where civilian casualties are probable); (3) sabotage of the infrastructure of the System – such things as roads, communications, television transmitters, airports, railways, power stations, food supplies, businesses, shops, financial institutions and so on; (4) terror campaigns directed at our enemies – indiscriminate or otherwise."

(https://natethayer.files.wordpress.com/2013/05/wwwcultivated-land-outside-rpp1.jpg)

Mobile trailer home which serves as headquarters for the RPP, the pro North Korean political group started by white supremacist Joshua Sutter

Also, Sutter provided helpful tips and instructions on killing perceived enemies. "The best types of soft target in this respect are: (1) enemies of Aryan freedom" and "politicians who have spoken-out against Aryan groups or who have done things harmful to our race and our freedom (such as supporting some new anti-Aryan law or encouraging race-mixing). On the practical level, the organization must collect intelligence on suitable targets, acquire suitable weapons and prepare statements for after the action. Individual covert cells can then be supplied with a list of targets, and armed with suitable weapons." Instruction for terrorist attacks and sparking a race war are also detailed by Sutter.

By April 2005, the Aryan Nations leader and Sutter's mentor, August Kreis, moved the group's national headquarters to a doublewide trailer in Lexington County to be near Sutter. On April 9 2005 Aryan Nations leader Kreiss bought a .732 acre piece of land, with a mobile home, at 160 Maplewood drive, Lexington SC for $18,000.

But the following month, Louisiana based Aryan Nations leader and preacher of the White Supremacist hate church Sons Of Yaweh Morris Gulett wrote from the Louisiana West Monroe Correction Center on May 12, 2005 accusing Joshua Sutter of being an undercover government informer. "Brother Charles Thornton from Alabama and myself are in federal custody here in Louisiana charged with Conspiracy to Commit Armed Bank Robbery. We were set up by one of the church's oldest members, Joshua Caleb Sutter."

"Let me say that this entire debacle was an FBI set up from the very beginning. There would be no alleged crimes, were it not for an FBI informant/agent provocateur, one Joshua Caleb Sutter, a now former member of the Church of the Sons of YHVH/Legion of Saints."

Within days, Kriess removed a photo of Sutter posing in a black turban and face mask, and articles he wrote from the Aryan Nations Web site, and Sutter went underground. The following years, Joshua Sutter focused on supporting the government and Juche ideology of North Korea using a variety of aliases

KEVIN WALSH AND ZIAD SHAKER AL-JISHI: THE WHITE NATIONALIST AND THE PALESTINIAN AMERICAN

It was also in 2004 that Kevin Walsh, an articulate virulent white nationalist and anti-Semite both began an alliance with Cupp and was arrested himself for threatening to assassinate by gun then U.S. president George W. Bush.

"Police in Phoenix cautiously approached Walsh, a registered handgun owner. Guns drawn, Walsh responded by drawing his own"

"John Paul Cupp and I were political collaborators discontinuously from 2004 to 2010" said Walsh in a series of email interviews. In 2004 "I was arrested and was incarcerated until 2006."

Police in Phoenix cautiously approached Walsh, a registered handgun owner. Guns drawn, Walsh responded by drawing his own. The standoff ended without violence, but an Arizona judge declared that Walsh must have been insane and committed him involuntarily to a mental institution for 180 days.

He was released two years later, whereupon he resumed his political alliance with John Paul Cupp, based on their shared support of the North Korean vision for how to politically organize a government.

Walsh joined another organization which was run by Cupp—the North American Committee Against Zionism and Imperialism (NACAZI). Together, the two created the European-American Socialist People's Front (EASPF).

(https://natethayer.files.wordpress.com/2013/05/wwwinside-the-rpp-hammer-and-sickle.jpg)

A synthesis of White Nationalism and Marxism-Leninism "EASPF is essentially a national communist or racial communist organization," wrote Cupp on a Yahoo! Group message. "I have been to North Korea and am deeply in love with them."

Cupp wrote that the North Korean Juche ideology supported "biological and cultural distinctiveness" and were "not nihilistic towards the realities of bloodline in the creation of national identities of people the way Western leftists are."

Kevin Walsh was more direct in his assessment of the two outfits. "NACAZAI and EASPF were only websites. We didn't have any kind of mass following or street organization. We would write essays and solicit support, but no support came," Walsh told NK News in an email interview.

"Jewish power and American imperialism are the source of great misery for the Arab people and the rest of the world, and they must be smashed"

All of Walsh's emails end with a quote from an April 2006 Rodong Sinmun article: "The south Korean pro-American traitorous forces advocating the theory of 'multiracial society' are riffraff who have not an iota of national soul, to say nothing of the elementary understanding of the view on the nation and social and historic development."

NACAZI was run by Cupp and a Palestinian American by the name of Ziad Shaker al-Jishi, who also held the title of deputy chairman of the U.S. Songun Politics Study Group. Ziad has made numerous trips to Pyongyang on the invitation of the North Korean government over the last decade.

"Jewish power and American imperialism are the source of great misery for the Arab people and the rest of the world, and they must be smashed. We have made great progress in the last decades for the revolutionary anti-imperialist struggle both in the DPRK and Iraq. We at NACAZAI from our geographic position have tried to contribute to this just and worthy effort to rid the world of Jewish power and American imperialism," said Ziad, in an interview published on the now defunct NACAZI website.

In an October 2006 letter to Kim Jong Il, Ziad said "For the last several years, I have been active in supporting the DPRK, because of my firm convictions in support of socialism and against imperialism and Zionism. The Korean revolution, through my numerous conversations and recent August visit, has demonstrated to me that it is not only genuine in its efforts, but further-more, the most advanced outpost for anti-imperialism in the world today."

The letter concluded: "While you long for Korean unity, I long for Arab unity. Like the Korean people under your care, my Arab people long for unification and independence. The lessons you have propagated against flunkeyism, by calling for preserving the Juche and national character of the revolution and synthesizing the people's cultural and historical identity simultaneously with the anti-imperialist class struggle under the banner of 'nationalist in form and socialist in content', is nothing short of genuineness creatively putting its pulse on the needs and desires of the great masses of periphery."In recent years, North Korean state media has heralded Ziad's visits to Pyongyang and his messages of support to the Kim family dynasty numerous times.

ZIAD, CUPP, SUTTER AND THE JUCHE CARAVAN

In December 2007, Ziad and Cupp travelled to meet Joshua Caleb Sutter at his rural mobile home in the woods of South Carolina, and formed a political alliance.

"A successful Songun Conference was held outside of Lexington, South Carolina at the Rural Peoples Party's Central Commune […] Participants included the US Songun Group, the RPP, and the North American Committee Against Zionism and Imperialism," wrote Cupp in a December 2007 message to political supporters.

While the cast of characters and organizations in the U.S. supporting Pyongyang increased, so did the tension between the extremist leaders with varying political agendas fighting for control over the small U.S. Juche organization officially sanctioned by Pyongyang.

The U.S. Songun Politics Study Group's official North Korean government contact was through a known front group for North Korean intelligence agencies, the Committee for Cultural and Foreign Relations, charged with garnering foreign support for the government, and their offices and contacts are located in Pyongyang. For the U.S. political activists and groups, a man using the name Zo Il Min was their primary North Korean contact.

"Cupp told me that Zo Il Min is from southern Korea but had moved to the DPRK and that he has a cable connection to an e-mail address in Japan to do Songun work internationally," said Walsh in a series of email interviews with*NK News* from his Arizona home over recent months. "I don't know if that is true and whether the Juche study group really is sanctioned by the DPRK government. Given the sort of people they've been tolerating in positions of leadership recently, I certainly hope not."

"The first time the RPP and John Paul Cupp crossed paths was in July 2007, when the RPP released a message of support for Pol Pot"

During the late 2007 meeting in the South Carolina woods with former Aryan Nations leader Joshua Caleb Sutter, the leader of the Rural People's Party, both Cupp and Ziad quickly found common political ground with the White Supremacist-turned Pyongyang disciple.

"In 2008 Cupp and Ziad had become involved with the Rural People's Party and had actually travelled to South Carolina to meet their leader, known as David Woods. Cupp would later say that Woods was a pseudonym for Josh Sutter and that Sutter had been arrested for some offense and had become a government agent" said Walsh. "Cupp and Ziad had initially thought Woods/Sutter and the RPP were sincere," Walsh told NK News.

The first time the RPP and John Paul Cupp crossed paths was in July 2007, when the RPP released a message of support for Pol Pot, the former leader of the Cambodian Khmer Rouge movement, on a pro-Khmer Rouge website. 1.8 million people died during Pol Pot's 3 years and 8 months in power in the 1970s.

Sutter sent a message. "We stand in firm solidarity with the Group for the Study of the Theories of Pol Pot and as a Marxist-Leninist-Maoist organization have held steadfast in defense, study, assimilation into party line and, by our work in establishing the Central People's Commune, advancing toward practical implementation of Pol Potism. Please find as follows some links to photographs taken at the CPC, a place which all who uphold the glorious line of the CPK are most graciously welcome."

The message contained photographs of the Khmer Rouge flag flying over a vinyl-sided mobile home in a rural setting – the Central People's Commune of the Rural People's Party. In photographs published elsewhere, the same trailer and property later show pictures of the North Korean flag and large portraits of Kim Il Sung and Kim Jong Il on the exterior of the small building.

John Paul Cupp wrote back a month later "On the Occasion of CPK Foundation Day" to the RPP: "It takes a lot of courage and guts to defend Democratic Kampuchea and Comrade Pol Pot in the U.S. I congratulate the RPP on this statement."

After the December 2007 meeting in South Carolina between Joshua Sutter, the RPP, John Paul Cupp and Ziad, the group of extremist leaders decided to join forces. Joshua Caleb Sutter, Jillian Hoy (an RPP committee member), James Porrazzo (another White Supremacist leader), and others affiliated with the RPP were all present.

Literature and propaganda material also sent by the North Korean government to the Rural People's Party (RPP)

On February 9, 2008, a joint statement was released in celebration of Kim Jong Il's birthday, announcing "The Songun Politics Study Group (USA)… are pleased to announce the formation of the US Preparatory Committee for the Celebration of February 16th and Red Sun's Day."

"The Committee will be chaired by John Paul Cupp and Ziad Shaker al-Jishi, Chairman of the North American Committee Against Zionism and Imperialism (NACAZAI) will be the Vice Chairman," the statement said. Included in the release was an RPP Statement, a letter to Kim Jong Il from John Paul Cupp and a similar letter from Ziad Shaker al-Jishi, Chairman of the North American Committee Against Zionism and Imperialism (NACAZAI)."

"Weapons-grade anthrax isn't something some redneck can make on the weekend in his tool shed"

The meeting between the unlikely grouping of white power extremists, Palestinian Americans and a formerly homeless person produced several new elements in the nexus between Pyongyang and their American citizen comrades.

"Cupp did tell me that Woods/Sutter had been talking about having been involved with sending anthrax to the White House," Walsh told NK News.

"Ziad had said something similar. I said, 'I seriously doubt that he had anything to do with that. He doesn't have the technical know-how to make weapons-grade anthrax. I have two university degrees, and I don't have that technical knowledge. Weapons-grade anthrax isn't something some redneck can make on the weekend in his tool shed. It takes a great deal of medical and biological expertise and expensive laboratory equipment. It's not a do-it-yourself project for revolutionaries.'"

Picture of Pol Pot on the wall inside mobile home on secluded South Carolina property of the Rural People's Party (RPP) headquarters

Walsh said if Sutter and Ziad were correctly recalling the conversations, "then it would seem that Woods/Sutter is some kind of government provocateur trying to entrap people by inciting them to use harmless powder that he claims is weapons-grade anthrax."

Walsh added that North Korea had no control over the white nationalist group, European American Socialist People's Front (EASPF), which he and Cupp ran, "because I had veto power over everything there, and I originated a lot of the ideas, and no one in Korea told me to do anything. I suspect the Rural People's Party is run by the FBI, so if the DPRK is having anything to do with them, it's probably not a good idea for them."

In the South Carolina backwoods on April 15, 2008, Kim Il Sung's Birthday, the RPP changed its official constitution to formally pledge loyalty to Pyongyang and their Juche ideology, giving equal status to both Kim Il Sung and Jim Jones. , officially adopting Juche as its "guiding ideology" and announcing a new "officially authorized" website which posted North Korean official propaganda "provided to the RPP by the Pyongyang Mission of the Anti-Imperialist National Democratic Front of South Korea (AINDF)."

The RPP also posted a picture of RPP Central Committee member Jillian Hoy holding an inscribed plaque sent to "KPA Supreme Commander Kim Jong Il on the occasion of the birth of his father Kim Il Sung" which was captioned: "RPP Central Committee member holds plaque for KIM JONG IL presented on behalf of RPP and the Songun Politics Study Group (USA)."

The RPP copied the official policy of the North Korean Ministry of Propaganda and Agitation by using a different, bolder and larger font and type style for the North Korean leader's name.

THE PLOT THICKENS, THE GROUP UNRAVELS

But like any good melodrama script, the new alliance also produced a subtext of love, betrayal, and treachery.

And so began what would be a rapidly unraveling political alliance of U.S. North Korea supporters as the U.S. Songun Study Group and the RPP ushered in a tumultuous period worthy of a bizarre soap opera script.

"The rivalry was to get tenser, including an exchange of death threats and an alleged assassination attempt."

During early 2008, John Paul Cupp fell in love and became engaged to Jillian Hoy, but that relationship would implode within months amongst accusations of it having been a politically motivated "honey trap" whereby Hoy was accused of attempting to poison Cupp in an alleged RPP bid to take over control of the officially recognized U.S. Songun Study Group.

By the summer of 2008, the RPP, having established their own direct connection to Pyongyang, cut all ties with Cupp. The rivalry was to get tenser, including an exchange of death threats and an alleged assassination attempt.

"Cupp was involved in a sexual relationship with one of the female members and had told me on the telephone that they were to be married. In July 2008, Cupp became severely ill with chronic appendicitis and some kind of lung infection and had to be hospitalized," Walsh recalled in an email to NK News.

"He wanted to talk to his 'fiancée,' and I e-mailed the RPP on his behalf but got no response. When he was released from hospital, she still didn't respond. It was then that Cupp came to the conclusion that it was all some kind of set-up."

Pol Pot, Jim Jones, Kim Il Sung and white racial supremacists share a common vision

Jillian Hoy—who used the name "Comrade Morrison" in her role with the RPP—was in fact Joshua Sutter's girlfriend—and soon to be wife.

The RPP "contact[ed] the then Songun Politics Study Group USA in 2007 and had very cordial relations with them," wrote Jason Adams-Tonis in December 2011, the head of the Songun Politics Study Group by that time. Jillian Hoy "became the fiancée of the then chairman John Paul Cupp" but in June 2008 the RPP "cut off all ties, unprovoked, with us. Cupp believes his illness was caused by being poisoned by Jillian" and Adams-Tonis charged the "whole RPP action was designed as a government attempt to seize control over the Study Group."

Jason Adams-Tonis added "with Cupp dead, Woods [Joshua Sutter] would have become the study group leader and thus have an inside connection to the DPRK leadership."

"[Sutter] later boasted to me that Jillian was in fact his own girlfriend and that he had indeed poisoned Cupp," wrote Adams-Tonis, quoting Sutter as saying Cupp was "insane" and the Study Group "deserved" a better leader.

"In personal conversations I had with the RPP leader, who utilized the pseudonym Woods, Woods told me that he had been a member of Aryan Nations before his 'conversion' to communism and that he feared retribution by Aryan Nations for his defection," according an online post by Adams-Tonis in December 2011.

He wrote that Sutter, in "statements to me and also to other comrades", tried to recruit them as loyalists to seize control "in his unsuccessful 2007-8 attempt to take over the group."

Cupp had a lengthy hospitalization in July of 2008, but emerged seemingly even more radical in his political beliefs.

"The content of [Cupp's] political manifestos were extreme enough to draw the pointed but gentle rebuke of Pyongyang directly."

In August of 2008, Cupp wrote numerous public screeds extolling the mass killing of all Jews, support for suicide bombers, Saddam Hussein, Sirhan Sirhan (the assassin of Robert Kennedy), and various calls for a new government to replace the U.S. authorities with a nation populated by an Aryan race.

CUPP DRAWS PYONGYANG'S DISSAPPROVAL

Cupp posted many of these screeds on the official North Korean U.S. Songun Politics Study Group which was disseminating propaganda sent by and on the instruction of Pyongyang.

The content of his political manifestos were extreme enough to draw the pointed but gentle rebuke of Pyongyang directly.

In an email from North Korea to Cupp on September 15, 2008, Pyongyang wrote instructing Cupp to pull non DPRK provided political propaganda from the U.S. Songun Study Group's website and refrain from posting DPRK material on Cupp's incendiary white supremacist anti-Semitic web pages.

"Dear comrade CUPP," the North Korean message began "We would like to make a comradely suggestion to you on the matter of publishing the great Juche and Songun-related photos and articles, great leaders' works, etc, on the internet. Could you please publish those materials exclusively on the US Songun website and the US Solidarity webpage and not post non-DPRK materials on this, and not post those Juche-Songun and DPRK photos and articles on your?"

"That's only for the sake of the dignity and prestige of our great leaders and the DPRK. We hope you who sincerely and ardently follow and revere the great leaders could understand what we mean and soon rearrange the materials on the internet, please. We're waiting for your reply in this connection and the good news of your better health. With our sincere and comradely regards, Zo Il Min, Representative of the Pyongyang Mission of the AINDF, September 15, Juche 97 (2008), Pyongyang, DPRK."

On September 15, Juche 97 (2008) John Paul Cupp replied to Pyongyang requesting him to tone down his virulent extremist politics.

"I will most certainly, as always, comply with the dictate given to me, and all these articles will be removed and I will comply with the request by this by Sunday… I do believe in…fulfilling the tasks assigned to me. I never ever even remotely wanted to disparage the DPRK in any way, shape, or form… what brought about this concern? Did someone complain? Am I in trouble? I wish to tell you that I have never stopped in my reverence to the DPRK leadership."

"The DPRK has known we support Saddam, hollowcause revisionism, reject 'Israel' and detest Jews for several years now and sided with us privately on most of that"

But Cupp reacted to the rebuke with alarm to his U.S. comrades . A September 16, 2008 email from Cupp to a half dozen members of the U.S. Songun Study Group with the subject "HUGE EMERGENCY NEWS" said: "I need you to promise me you aren't going to contact the DPRK […] Someone is fucking with us, and whining up the ass to the DPRK, and crying to them about three things: A. My open support for European-American nationalism (which they probably went and told Zo Il Min I was a KKK lynching or something), our position against the Jews (but they've known that for like 6 years!) and our support for armed struggle to bring down the American regime"

"I mean I told them I laughed my ass off at Sept 11 and they chuckled," Cupp said.

Cupp concluded "We are the most open and honest about not bowing to the Jews and hating America and supporting all international and national violence or other means to stop them….this is a major security issue attempting to wreck our ties to the DPRK (and the DPRK has known we support Saddam, hollowcause revisionism, reject 'Israel' and detest Jews for several years now and sided with us privately on most of that)."

North American skinhead Juche supporter, white power activist and Satanic cult devotee

His erstwhile comrade, Kevin Walsh, told Cupp that he would have told Pyongyang differently.

"Quite frankly if Zo Il Minh had come to me with such a request, I'd have told him to fuck off. No one is going to stop my expressing support for the DPRK, not even the DPRK leadership itself. NACAZAI is an independent anti-imperialist organization, not an agent of any foreign government, no matter how progressive. The Korean Revolution is worthy of defense, even if the leadership no longer think so."

"You don't get to vote in DPRK elections," Walsh wrote to Cupp, "So you don't have any obligation to go along with DPRK decisions. You are not an agent of a foreign government, and for the sake of your legal status, it is for the best that things stay that way."

Cupp did not take North Korea's advice.

Immediately after the rebuke to Cupp from the North Korean government, Cupp posted a virulent message on the Aryan Nations website in support of a White Supremacist U.S. terrorist, David Lane, who had been sentenced to death and executed after his arrest for a spree of racial and terrorist violence in 2001. Cupp wrote Lane "rests with our martyrs and ancestors for all of eternity" and said it was "time for raising the White Power battle cry….David Lane is a symbol of our struggle for liberation by any means necessary."Lane recognized that America is the enemy of White people and the world. He taught us to love the White woman with all our hearts, and to defend her in with the same fanaticism of Timothy McVeigh… and Palestinian human bombs….On the day when a great army of Aryan guerrillas answers the call, we will honor him through victory and martyrdom. White Power, build the People's War!

FROM JUCHE CARAVAN TO HINDU TEMPLE: A NEW GOD IN LEXINGTON COUNTY

On November 18, 2008 Joshua Sutter and Jillian Hoy (aka Comrade Morrison and Cupp's erstwhile ex-fiancé) married at a South Carolina Apostolic Pentecostal church "on the anniversary of the People's Temple martyrdom" to the tune of the song "Hold On, Brother" from the People's Temple album "He's Able", and "Marching to Zion" used for the movie Guyana Tragedy: The Story of Jim Jones, according to Lexington County, South Carolina probate Court records.

Here Hoy, who bills herself a Hindu priestess Jayalalita Devi Dasi, is pictured at the rural South Carolina property where the Hindu temple New Bihar Mandir is located which worships the deity Kali, the "Goddess of Destruction" is located

By 2009, both the RPP and the U.S. Songun Politics Study Group vied for control over the officially-sanctioned U.S. support group for North Korea. In doing so, both groups veered farther into extremist white supremacist and apocalyptic religious politics.

"In 2009, leaders of the clandestine U.S. White Power movement created another religious organization—a Hindu sect worshipping an apocalyptic Hindu Deity, Kali"

"The RPP continues to work within religious circles in line with the example given to us by Jim Jones and Peoples Temple," said the RPP in a November 2009 biography written for the University of California at San Diego Center for Religious Studies,

Also in 2009, Joshua Sutter, Jillian Hoy, and other leaders of the clandestine U.S. White Power movement created another religious organization—a Hindu sect worshipping an apocalyptic Hindu Deity, Kali.

Taking on the aliases of a Hindu priest and priestess, Sutter and Hoy established the New Bihar Mandir Temple at the same rural South Carolinian location as the Rural People's Party headquarters and where the U.S. Songun Study Group represented by Cupp and the Palestinian American activist Ziad secretly travelled months earlier to formalize their political alliance.

Sutter adopted an additional new identity of a Hindu Hare Krishna priest calling himself Shree Shree Kalki-Kalika Mandir. Sutter's bride, Jillian Hoy, took on the name Jayalalita devi dasi, and billed herself as a Hindu priestess.

(https://natethayer.files.wordpress.com/2013/05/wwwwsutter-with-cult-god.jpg)

Jason Sutter, a former pro-North Korean support group ringleader, now a self-proclaimed Hindu priest

While ostensibly clandestine in its formation using aliases and other tactics to obfuscate who was in fact behind the new Hindu temple, the New Bihar Mandir Hindu Temple used the same mailing address and phone numbers used for the RPP. Public recruitment notices in local newspapers and in new age circles listed the physical address as that of the Sutter owned property and Joshua Sutter was given as the contact person to call for directions to worship services.

New Bihar Mandir's Myspace page, created in 2009, says "A new god has come to rural Lexington County, South Carolina: Their Lordships Shree Shree Kalki-Kalika." Adding "Lord Kalki will appear as the "Killer Avatar" to cleanse the earth as the pivotal factor in a worldwide annihilation, from which, like a phoenix arising from the ashes, will come a new Golden Age (or 'Satya-yuga.')"

The New Bihar Mandir proclaimed "Lord Kalki is our commander, ultimate master and final authority life after life." According to ancient Hindu scriptures, history is divided into four epochs: now is the 'Kali Yug', the Age of Kali, an epoch of darkness and disintegration…New Bihar Mandir, a worldwide movement of devotees and temples, is beginning to bring this prophecy into fruition."

'Shree Shree Kalki-Kalika Mandir' and 'Jayalalita devi dasi' both list their marriage dates on My Space as November 18, 2008, the same date listed on Sutter and Hoy's marriage license in Lexington County probate court records. In keeping with their affinity for violent apocalyptic religious sects with a political agenda, The New Bihar Mandir Temple heavily promotes Velupillai Pirabhakaran, the head of the Sri Lankan LTTE 'Tamil Tigers' armed guerrilla group, who was a devoted follower of the same Kali sect of Hindu and responsible for creating suicide squads of teenage girls dispatched to explode deadly terrorist bombings and assassinate political leaders, including the May 21, 1991 killing of Indian Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi in the southern state of Tamil Nadu, home to India's Tamils.

"New Bihar Mandir of Lexington, South Carolina has as its foremost mission providing the facilities for persons in our area hitherto unfamiliar with ancient Vedic wisdom to engage in this bhakti-yoga (devotional yoga) and commune personally with Lord Kalki and Goddess Kali," reads the New Bihar Mandir MySpace profile.

The New Bihar Mandir Temple Face book page, used the slogans "Where Worlds Collide" and "I have become death, the destroyer of worlds "and invites the public to "Contact us to learn how to get involved in NBM."

The previous year Sutter had professed loyalty to the Hare Krishna sect of Hinduism. "In retrospect I can see just how much my life has been enriched by your work," Sutter wrote in a letter to the head of a North Carolina-based Hare Krishna temple.

"[My wife] is now having some of the happiest times I have seen her have since our marriage because of the enriching potency of Krishna consciousness,"

"[We] covertly inserted ourselves into various religious organizations in the rural Lexington County area"

By 2010, in addition to proclaiming loyalty to Pyongyang and their Juche ideology Sutter and the RPP simultaneously asserted their devotion to white racist Christian Identity churches; the Jim Jones religious cult; a Hindu apocalyptic sect worshipping "the Goddess of Destruction"; a mostly black South Carolina fundamentalist Pentecostal church, and the more mainstream Hare Krishna Hindu sect – all within a matter of several years.

A biography of the RPP published by the University of San Diego in 2010, and written by Sutter, explains the reasoning behind the discordant affiliations.

The many shades of Jillian Hoy: (L) Jillian Hoy in a photo taken during a pilgrimage to visit the former church headquarters of Jim Jones's Peoples Temple in Los Angeles, (C) Hoy holds an RPP plaque devoted to Kim Jong Il and poses for a photo (R) Hoy in her guise as a Hindu priestess

During 2008, the Rural People's Party "covertly inserted ourselves into various religious organizations in the rural Lexington County area," wrote Sutter for the archives of Jim Jones's People's Temple. "Many communists might look upon our activity…as suspect, due to what – in our opinion – is a naive belief… that all political activity must by default primarily be "above-ground." These same people seem to forget that Joseph Stalin began his political activity at Tiflis Theological Seminary as a seminarian, and that Kim Il Sung organized many pre-revolutionary anti-imperialist activities while an accomplished organist at his parents' Presbyterian church in Korea….at the peak of the RPP's involvement in local Pentecostal and Apostolic circles, two members of our organization were married in a ceremony at a local Apostolic church on November 18th, the anniversary of the Peoples Temple martyrdom."

THE NEW BIHARD MANDIR WHITE SUPREMACY CONNECTION

The members of the New Bihar Mandir temple include a veritable who's who of North American white power activists. They include a 'Minister Black' identified as 'Works at New Bihar Mandir' and a former white power activist; James Porrazzo the former leader of the American Front, once the largest white power neo Nazi group in the U.S.; 'Emily Putney, Porrazzo's girlfriend in Massachusetts and convicted of an anti-Semitic assault and hate crime on an elderly Jewish man in 2010; 'Jayalalita Devi Dasi of Lexington, South Carolina' who is Jillian Hoy of the Rural People's Party and Joshua Sutter's wife; 'Rex Morgan' a white power activist with a history of involvement in Satanic cults; and Chris Hayes a long time white supremacist activist with the American Front.

"The Aryan is white and noble in contradistinction to the black and ignoble."

The group all using numerous aliases. are affiliated with white supremacist groups, Satanic cults, and underground political groups who call for the violent armed overthrow of the U.S. government.

On James Porrazzo's web site "OPENREVOLT" he posted an article "NOTES ON THE BHAGAVAD-GITA" on August 22, 2011 which begins: "We assume, quite justifiably, I think, that the Bhagavad-Gita sets forth Aryan philosophy. The Aryan is white and noble in contradistinction to the black and ignoble. This book then, if Aryan, must give us a noble system of philosophy and ethics."

The article concludes with: "This post is dedicated to his Divine Grace A.C Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabupada, my anonymous Krishna Conscious Spiritual Advisor (you know who you are) and my brothers and sisters at New Bihar Mandir."

ENTER JASON ADAMS-TONIS AND THE 'FBI INFORMANT'

In late 2009, John Paul Cupp and Kevin Walsh got into a confrontation with Joshua Sutter and James Porrazzo of the Rural People's Party over a young recruit by the name of Jason Adams-Tonis.

A New York University college student from New Jersey, Tonis had contacted the RPP earlier in 2009 interested in working with U.S. supporters of North Korea. Tonis was unaware about the ongoing clash between the U.S. Songun Politics Study Group, and was taken aback by the RPP private denunciation of the Songun Study Group, and contacted them.

"Someone has told me that your leader, Woods, was formerly a member of a white gang. He and few others did something, got caught by the cops, and Woods snitched to avoid going to jail."

Tonis then contacted Cupp at the U.S. Songun Study Group who denounced the RPP to Tonis as possible government informants. On August 25th, Cupp wrote to Walsh, saying that Tonis told him he had "contacted the RPP some time back and they claimed to be the real representatives of the AINDF in the US! I made clear to him that they only time the AINDF ever contacted them was at my suggestion to which I take enormous self criticism."

Tonis wrote to the RPP head Joshua Sutter afterwards on October 31. "Someone has told me that your leader, Woods, was formerly a member of a white gang. He and few others did something, got caught by the cops, and Woods snitched to avoid going to jail."

"This person believes that Woods founded the RPP as an FBI/CIA or other government attempt to infiltrate the American Songun movement and the DPRK. Care to comment on the allegations?" Tonis wrote. "I wish you would be more open with me, a Communist party is supposed to be a family but how can we ever become a family when you don't even tell me your names?"

"All you do is keep secret, said Tonis, "Secrecy is important for some kinds of political work, but how can you even build a party if we don't even know each other's names?"

The message was not well received.

Sutter replied back, saying "Consider all friendships between us as ended. This email is being forwarded to the Special Dictatorship Group intelligence apparatus of the party as facsimile copy. Please return any and all materials the party has sent you to the party post office box. Should you choose not to reciprocate in the requested manner, we will take other measures"

On November 3, Tonis emailed Cupp in panic. With the subject line I think the RPP is coming after me, Tonis wrote "ooh my god…I just got an email from the RPP, they're making some sort of threat against me, what should I do?"

John Paul Cupp responded Tonis regarding the conflict in an email, saying "Okay so it looks like we are going to wind up getting stuck with an ugly fight with the RPP, maybe even literally."

"Woods went nuts and is basically threatening to kill Jason in not so many words….I think he is afraid the RPP is going to send some ZOG agent to kill him and his family," wrote Cupp.

"We cannot promise they aren't crazy enough to try killing him"

(https://natethayer.files.wordpress.com/2013/05/nbmnylgunsutter.jpg)

Hindu sect shrine with offerings to the "Goddess of Destruction" in South Carolina

Cupp decided to "avoid confrontations that needlessly waste literally years of our time or get people killed and locked up" and opted to warn Joshua Sutter that he would publicly identify him by his real name and his white supremacist past unless he backed off.

Cupp wrote that he told Tonis "we cannot promise they aren't crazy enough to try killing him" and that "I have already told him about my lung stories and true or not he is sure I was poisoned so he will listen."

"We [could] avoid these people and not waste years fighting with them," Cupp concluded, "but if we do, we fight them ruthlessly. I also genuinely think one of two things, either a) Jason is some sort of agent or tool or b) his life is in serious danger. Woods is crazy enough that if he feels all is lost, to just drive up to such said address and kill him. He really is that nuts. He'd do that to me, also."

"I am concerned that lots of well meaning sort of national communistic types, both White and Black are going to contact the RPP in the next few years looking for options 'outside the box' and could wind up dead or seriously harmed," Cupp said. "At some point we need to eliminate the RPP, likely for now we see if it can implode. If it doesn't we make clear who they are out in the open and destroy them, but first get inside their allies so these people know who they are dealing with."

Cupp's 2010 conversion to Islam did not ring true with Kevin Walsh, who broke all ties with Cupp and resigned from both Nacazai and the EASP. "In March 2010, Cupp made a public and obviously false conversion to Islam on Face book three weeks after posting on a Face book group that he had himself founded called "Aryan Atheists," Walsh said.

Cupp was eased out of the leadership of the Pyongyang-recognized U.S. Songun Politics Study Group, and was replaced by Jason Adams-Tonis by February 2011.

In a statement posted in December 2011, the Study Group said: "In February 2011, John Paul Cupp's mentally ill state and devolution reached a point whereby he totally abandoned Juche and communism. Jason-Adam Tonis was left to take over leadership of the group and try to rebuild it."

Jason-Adam Tonis "decided to lead it in a strictly orthodox Juche-Songun framework, away from racism and all those who supported racist ideas. Jason-Adam Tonis since 2009 had always opposed John Paul Cupp's white nationalist line but his attempts to lead Cupp back to the orthodox Juche camp always ended in failure due to Cupp's increasing mental illness."

"Mr. Tonis was at that same time campaigning for 'Prime Minister' of a Japanese based political organization called the Manchukuo Temporary Government."

TONIS: A TEMPORARY PRIME MINISTER OF A TEMPORARY GOVERNMENT

The transition, however, was far from smooth and Jason-Adam Tonis's promotion in February 2011 hardly brought a semblance of harmony to the U.S.-North Korea political movement.

In fact. Mr. Tonis was at that same time campaigning for "Prime Minister" of a Japanese based political organization called the Manchukuo Temporary Government. The Official Website of the Manchukuo Temporary Government states on May 28, 2011 "Mr. Jason Adam Tonis was elected as the new Prime Minister."

The state of Manchukuo existed as a puppet state of Imperial Japan between September 1932 and the 1945 Russian invasion, and was the site of some of the worst atrocities committed by the Japanese military and is a symbol of Japanese imperialism and aggression to many Asians.

"The sovereign rights and ruling right was handed to the Temporary Administrator Mr. Jason Adam Tonis," announced the Manchukuo Temporary Government in April 2011.

Their manifesto includes the statement: "We put emphasize in watching the Korean peninsula's relation. If the two Korea are at war with each other [sic]. We will no doubly declare war on North Korea to fight the totalitarian Kim regime and liberate the North people [sic]."

Emily Putney, Porrazzo's girlfriend convicted of violent assault on elderly Jewish man, North Korea supporter and new resistance leader

JAMES PORRAZZO: THE PRO-NORTH KOREAN WHITE SUPREMACIST

An increasingly prominent figure among U.S. citizens supporting North Korea in recent years is James Porrazzo.

Porrazzo became a key figure in pro Pyongyang activist circles in America when he was released from prison in 2007 or 2008 after a stint for selling illegal growth hormones used by athletes to increase strength.

He was also former head of the largest white supremacist group in the United States, the American Front.

Founded in 1987, the American Front was affiliated with racist groups such as the White Aryan Resistance, and gained publicity for breaking U.S. chat show host Geraldo Rivera's nose live on his television show. Starting out as a White Supremacist skinhead group targeting blacks and Jews, it soon went through numerous internal power struggles and ideological programs.

"In 1998, Porrazzo was arrested for assault against an anti-racist activist in Springfield, Missouri, given a one-year suspended sentence and ordered to give up racist politics"

American Front members committed numerous violent racial hate crimes in the 1990s. In 1991, police offers searching a Beaverton, Oregon residence found a "hit list" of Portland police officers. In 1993, in California and Washington states a series of bombings targeting blacks, gays and Jews were attributed to the American Front. The U.S. Attorney in Washington State said the American Front were part of a larger conspiracy to incite a race war.

Their motto was to "Secure National Freedom and Social Justice for White people in North America."

In 1996 James Porrazzo took control of the group, and moved to Arkansas where he professed an ideology known as "Third Positionism" – an amalgam of far right racial politics and leftist communist economic policies which had its roots with the European fascist right.

In 1998, Porrazzo was arrested for assault against an anti-racist activist in Springfield, Missouri, given a one-year suspended sentence and ordered to give up racist politics.

"By the early 2000s," the anti-racist Anti-Defamation League wrote, "Porrazzo had largely run the group into the ground and it was Porrazzo's approach to Islamists which seems to have been the final cause of his undoing." The group promoted not only Hamas and Hezbollah, but even Al Qaeda's Osama bin Laden. After 9/11, that kind of promotion "inspired some heavy state harassment and severely limited our ability to safely expand or organize," Porrazzo said.

Porrazzo advocated "socialist revolution in a racialist context," explaining "We propose a workable, realistic alternative, and that is Separatism! White autonomy, Black autonomy, Brown autonomy and death to the current twisted system…. The only other obvious route would be an eventual winner take all race war: I don't think anyone with any sense would want that… "

After the September 11 terrorist attack, Porrazzo disappeared from public activism. The American Front was taken over by another virulent white racist, David Lynch, who was murdered by an assassin on March 2, 2011.

A man, possibly Porrazzo, at the RPP headquarters, now a temple.

Like many of U.S. citizens supporting North Korea, Porrazzo goes to great lengths to hide his real identity and obfuscate his real political agenda by using a myriad of pseudonyms and front groups. In doing so, he and his confederates continued to try to lure potential supporters to their true political beliefs.

A careful dissection of their complex web of front religious cults, White Supremacist groups, and neo Nazi front organizations all lead back to the same core group of people and extremist political objectives.

"In 2008, Porrazzo, a long time member of the U.S. based Hare Krishna Hindu sect, joined forces with Joshua Sutter in the RPP."

In a March 2013 interview with Polish National Socialist organization XPortal, Porrazzo explained "The American Front took "what we could from left-wing sources" but a "very influential" ideology was what was called " 'occult fascists', this on top of the foundation of our having been America's first national 'Skinhead' organization" and "very importantly from Gaddafi's Green Book."

"One of the areas we studied heavily was the Islamic resistance movements towards the Globalists. This study would backfire on American Front when Sept 11th occurred" which resulted in "heavy state harassment and severely limited our ability to safely expand or organize. By 2002 we voted to put American Front into a 'tactical hibernation' until we felt the situation was better suited for us to act openly."

In 2008, Porrazzo, a long time member of the U.S. based Hare Krishna Hindu sect, joined forces with Joshua Sutter in the RPP. He was also was a leader in the 2009 formation of the New Bihar Mandir temple.

American Front White Power member Kent McLellen

In a series of August 2011 email communications between a group of radical anti-racists, one American Front member, Kent McLellan, broke with Porrazzo and detailed his political activities.

I'm done with American Front," wrote McLellen. "James Porrazzo, former leader of American Front…is a convicted GHB peddler, as well as actual contributor to Libya, (in fact in 2003 Libya tried to give him $3 million but was denied by the US government) […] He also [believes] in Hindu/Satanism/Allah."

Kent McLellen, at the time was an avowed white supremacist who had spent time in prison for racial hate crimes.

TYLER MOSES AND THE UNITED JUCHE FRONT OF NORTH AMERICA

On November 17, 2011 the United Juche Front of North America was created by someone using the name Tyler Moses.

Tyler Moses was an alias used by Joshua Sutter in 2002 while serving as the "Pennsylvania state coordinator" for the white racist terror group Aryan Nation shortly prior to his arrest for buying illegal weaponry from an undercover federal law enforcement agent in a plot to launch a bombing campaign in the U.S.

"The sole mission of The United Juche Front of North America is to disseminate information related to the practical application of Songun and Juche based ideologies on the American continent," the organization's manifesto read.

"We recognize as Americans that support of the DPRK is seen as a hostile act and are acting in accordance [with] the engagement of operating behind enemy lines."

James Porrazzo former head of white power American Front turned DPRK supporter. Head of racial separatist communist organization New Resistance

Just as David Woods was the alias used by Sutter as head of the Rural People's Party, Tyler Moses was the alias he used to coordinate a White Power march on Washington D.C.

Jillian Hoy, who also claims to be a disciple of the mainstream Hare Krishna Hindu sect, holds up Hare Krishna literature at a rural South Carolina library in 2009

In his time as leader of Aryan nations Sutter also used his real name and other aliases, including the name Wulfran Hall. In his incarnation as a Hindu priest for the New Bihar Mandir temple he assumed the name Shree Shree Kalika-Kalki. In other covert communications with outsiders, he used the name Stephen Browne.

But numerous South Carolina, online, and other records show that all these identities are, in fact, Joshua Sutter. They share birthdates, marriage dates, telephone numbers, and addresses.

THE BID FOR PYONGYANG RECOGNITION

In December 2011, in an apparent attempt to seize control over the organization and become the only official organization supporting North Korea in the U.S., Joshua Sutter and James Porrazzo, used the RPP, New Resistance and another pro-Pyongyang group created using pseudonyms to attack the Pyongyang-recognized leadership of the North American Juche-Songun Ideas Study Group.

"The Juche movement in North America has been hampered in its development because of the study group's former chairman John Paul Cupp's deviationism from Kim Il Sungist Thought"

"A few weeks ago, a man using the name Tyler Moses formed a group calling itself the Juche Front this man was also an Aryan Nations figure and he claimed also to be a Hare Krishna and member of New Bihar Mandir, as part of our group's routine background check for applying member candidates, we discovered the identity of New Bihar Mandir's leader Shree Shree Kalika-Kalki Mandir was actually Sutter," wrote the North American Juche Songun Study Group in December 2011.

The statement continued: "Over the past several years, the Juche movement in North America has been hampered in its development because of the study group's former chairman John Paul Cupp's deviationism from Kim Il Sungist Thought and his flirtations with anti-communist philosophies such as white nationalism."

Cupp's deviations "led him to bring many dangerous and suspect people into the group; two of these individuals were Joshua Caleb Sutter and James Porrazzo," the statement said, referring to the former leader of the Aryan Nations and the former head of the American Front.

the fault for these matters rests solely upon John Paul Cupp and his adoption of a pro-white nationalist line; had he not done so James Porrazzo and Joshua Sutter would never once have ever been considered for a moment to be validly qualified to be members of this study group, from now on we will pursue a more vigilant anti-racist, anti-white nationalist policy.

The statement concluded "The North American Juche-Songun Ideas Study Group repeats and reaffirms our warning to all comrades and friends of the DPRK and Juche to avoid James Porrazzo and his New Resistance group."

Porrazzo and Sutter lashed back, creating another front group, the Swords of Songun and went public with attacks on Tonis the same month.

Swords of Songun was a newly created pro-North Korean web page that posted propaganda it had obtained from the North Korean government describing itself as the journal of "Juche Truth, a North American National Revolutionary think-tank focusing on the study of Juche and Songun."

But its sole posting was a vitriolic screed against Tonis titled "A warning to all Revolutionary friends of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea and Juche Thought: This silver spoon fed NYC metro-sexual exposed." contending "Tonis's true beliefs as the Manchukuo group is obsessively pro-Japan and anti-China, anti-communist (Tonis professes to be pro-Stalin and Mao to some he is spying on), anti-"racist" (Tonis also advocates racial separatism to others he spies on) and most disturbingly militantly anti-DPRK."

Swords of Songun spewed venom at Tonis saying "He tongues the toes of the Japanese along with his Manchu reactionary cohorts as if they were his 55 year old tranny possible police contact / boy-girlfriend's – then he attacks the Japanese attempting to curry favor and trust with the DPRK!" and threatened Tonis with death.

Jason Adams Tonis, head of U.S. Juche Group after Cupp converted to Islam

"Tonis went too far when he tried to infiltrate the New Resistance. In addition to whatever harm he has caused to the DPRK through his weekly contacts with DPRK representatives… turbulence was ignited between Juche Front and NR"

"After the Revolution he will answer for his crimes."

New Resistance is a clandestine front organization controlled by James Porrazzo, and other veteran hard-core members of extreme right wing white supremacists that had their origins in the Aryan Nations and American Front of the 1990's and early 2000's.

The Swords of Songun website, aside from posting long sections of official North Korean propaganda detailing Juche ideology and praising the Kim dynasty, attacked the U.S. Songun Study Group and its leadership."Jason-Adam Tonis…has repeatedly tried to drive a wedge between New Resistance and other revolutionaries in North America and the Eurasian Movement led by Comrade Alexander Dugin. This will not continue. New Resistance urges all revolutionary organizations to break communication with Tonis and his fake Juche honey trap's pig work."

After the Revolution," the article warned, "he will answer for his crimes."

But the dissension within the U.S. group, not to mention the extreme racist and white supremacist public views of its top leaders, did not stop the North Korean government from heralding the U.S. figures in their official media.

On December 19, 2011 Kim Jong Il died.

One week later, the official North Korean state media said in an article headlined "Organizations of Foreign Countries Mourn Demise of Kim Jong Il" said that "Different organizations of the world sent letters… on Dec. 19 and 20, expressing profound condolences over the demise of leader Kim Jong Il."

"They included," the article said, "the North American Group for Study of the Juche, Songun Idea in the U.S. and the North American Committee against Zionism and Imperialism."

EPILOUGE

The 2011 split amongst U.S. Juche supporters did not usher in a new harmony.

The U.S. Juche Study Group became wary of infiltrators. "Advocates of a global melting pot may not find this the group for them. While parallels can be drawn between the Great Leaders' ideas and those of third positionists, they are notoriously filled with police officers, would-be-terrorists and a whole host of other shady folks and we ask that if you're a member of any of these types of groups, stay away from us."

The most prominent advocate of third positionism, James Porrazzo, explained his political strategy in March 2013.

"We took from left-wing sources" and the "very influential ideology of 'occult fascists'," calling American Front "America's first national 'Skinhead' organization."

"We studied heavily the Islamic resistance movements" which "backfired on American Front when Sept 11th occurred" with "heavy state harassment severely limiting our ability to expand. By 2002 we voted to put American Front into 'tactical hibernation'."

In 2009, Porrazzo sabotaged rival "bandit groupings, disrupted it and reestablished American Front as a National Revolutionary movement."

North Korea is a model of a racially pure state for many white power skinheads

In March 2011, American Front leader David Lynch was assassinated and Porrazzo attempted to seize power. Law enforcement infiltrated the group and uncovered a muder plot against to Porrazzo by rivals "conspiring with (white power group) Combat 18."

Porrazzo recruited American Front members to his New Resistance group promoting North Korea, racial separatism, and the overthrow of the U.S. government.

In May 2012, 14 American Front members were arrested plotting "race war" and charged with stockpiling weapons, paramilitary training using automatic weapons, and murders of political enemies.

Porrazzo's rival's sidelined, he disbanded the group and its website, directing to links to New Resistance. FBI documents show Porrazzo threatening challengers to his leadership.

"We "cleared the slate" continuing our revolutionary efforts under a new banner…and New Resistance was born. Anyone claiming to be American Front is a renegade," Porrazzo said in March 2013.

On March 16, 2013, the far right Russian Defense League named Porrazzo its "Ambassador" to the U.S.

May of 2012 also saw renewed infighting within the U.S. Songun Politics Study Group.

Despite Jason-Adam Tonis's claim of moving away from racist politics after taking over from the Muslim convert John Paul Cupp, private emails obtained by NK News show Tonis denigrating rival U.S. DPRK sympathizers as "all Jews or else fags."

"Have you ever heard of a group called the American Front ? Sutter/Woods is now working with them," Tonis wrote white supremacist Kevin Walsh. "I've made received "death threats…because I believe bloodline is the main determinant of nationality as Kim Jong Il postulated" adding "comrade Woods aka Joshua Sutter came back under a new alias and tried to steal control of the group by accusing me of being a CIA agent."

Walsh replied "The WWP are a bunch of Jews" and "I can't believe any thinking person would take "Woods" seriously. My advice is to cut off all relations with anyone who wants to work with Woods. Those who want to work with him are either government agents or too fucking stupid to be of any use to you."

However Walsh soon discovered Tonis' claims of renouncing white supremacy. Walsh–a committed racial separatist and anti Semite–objected.

"I maintain that white nationalism is the correct interpretation of Juche for the European-American community and is in no way incompatible with communism. The Korean people in the north keep their blood pure, and so should the European-American people," Walsh wrote. "Tonis didn't have a problem with this in 2009. Whatever the ultimate cause of Cupp breaking with Tonis, it was not white nationalism. I support solidarity with the Korean people against imperialism, but I don't knowingly work with liars, hypocrites, fraudsters, and traitors. If the Korean people want to work with such people, more the fool they."

Tonis replied to Walsh with a violent threat. "The Juche party is based on absolute unity around the Leader. As leader of the US study group I demand you submit to me and follow my orders. If not then, the next time I'm in Arizona, I'll gladly crack your skull open."

"I must make self-criticism for wasting too much time and been too patient with hypocrites and cowards. I am making an implied criticism of the Koreans for having such flakes as Cupp represent them in North America, but in their defense, they probably didn't have a whole lot of volunteers come forward and couldn't be terribly choosy. In any case, I wish the Korean people well, but I will sever all relations with this particular group."

John Paul Cupp did not reply to messages seeking comment. Using the name Walid Cupp, he said. "I support the Korean [stance] against American Imperialism, but I have been a practicing Muslim for a few years now and no longer am directly involved."

Jason-Adam Tonis responded to NK News interview requests for an saying "I've not been in good health lately and have been unable to reach a computer. Of course I would love and am always ready to talk about the DPRK and Americans such as myself who are supporters of it." He did not respond to further questions in a subsequent emails. Neither Joshua Sutter or James Porrazzo responded to messages left for them…
